Eat well: Reduce your risk of Type 2 diabetes

Four out of five cases of Type 2 diabetes can be prevented by making small changes to your lifestyle. So if you're at risk, it's important you take steps to maintain a healthy weight, eat well and be active. This information sheet gives you some tips that will help you eat a healthier diet, while still enjoying food.

Top tips for eating well

Eat regular meals. Avoid skipping meals and space your breakfast, lunch and evening meal out over the day.

Include carbohydrates each day. Healthier sources include wholegrain starchy foods, fruits and vegetables, pulses and some dairy foods. As all carbohydrates affect blood glucose levels, be aware of the amount you eat.

Cut down on fat, especially saturated fat. Unsaturated fats from olive oil, sunflower oil, rapeseed oil, nuts and avocados are better for your heart. Try to grill, steam or bake food rather than frying, and swap creamy sauces for tomato based sauces.

Eat more fruit and vegetables. Fruit and vegetables will give your body the vitamins, minerals and fibre it needs. We should all aim to eat at least five portions a day.

Eat more beans. Kidney beans, chickpeas and lentils are packed with nutrients. Try them hot in soups or casseroles, cold in salads or in low-fat hummus and dhal.

Dish up the fish. Aim to eat two portions of fish, including one of oily fish, a week. Examples of oily fish include mackerel, sardines, salmon and pilchards.

Cut down on sugar. A healthy diet can include some sugar – but you may need to reduce the amount you eat. Choose sugar-free, diet or no-added sugar drinks, and make sure you're reading food labels to spot sugar in other foods.

Cut down on salt. Aim to eat 6g of salt or less a day. 70 per cent of the salt we eat comes from processed foods – so try to cut back on pre-prepared foods, and try flavouring your food with herbs and spices instead of salt.

Drink in moderation. That's a maximum of 2–3 units of alcohol per day for a woman and 3–4 units per day for a man. Remember alcohol is high in calories so think about cutting back further if you are trying to lose weight.

Be aware of portion sizes. If you're trying to lose weight, you may need smaller portions. Try using smaller plates, or dish out your vegetables first and let them fill up your plate.
